Area Officials Discuss Proposed Hospital

Officials of Tinley Park and the surrounding area discussed proposed plans for a hospital in honor of the late Tony Bettenhausen, local race driver, at a recent meeting.

Erwin C. Feurer, director of hospital relations at Christ Community Hospital, Oak Lawn, related how this hospital was started.

He suggested that the Tony Bettenhausen Memorial Medical Center committee start with a first aid station, staffed with a few local doctors, first aid equipment, nurses and beds.

According to Feurer the first step in establishing the project is to determine the boundaries of the hospital area for this vicinity from the Department of Health.

The assistance of surrounding communities in this endeavor should be solicited, Feurer said.

The ultimate goal of a hospital in the area would rise from this beginning, but he cautioned on planning for a hospital of adequate size by projecting the population five or seven years from the present.

Dr. John Ryan of Tinley Park advised the group that the Sears Foundation would aid them in furnishing surveys and other services. A recent survey by the Foundation, it was stated by Henry J. Bettenhausen, committee chairman, reveals that a hospital is needed in this area. Bettenhausen suggested that if those present were interested in working towards such a goal, that perhaps the first step should be to acquire a site for the proposed hospital.

Feurer advised the group that such a site should contain at least 20 acres. Based on his experience in the establishment of Christ Community Hospital, he advised that it would take from five to ten years to complete the project and of necessity it is a long range planning program.

The federal government would aid with funds, he said, if certain requirements are met. The group will also have to secure a permit for this hospital area from the State of Illinois.

Village presidents who attended the meeting were: George C. Sangmeister, Frankfort; Charles Swanberg, Mokena; Raymond J. Pecor, Westhaven; W.R. Schussler Jr., Orland Park; also the following Chamber of Commerce presidents: Grant B. Geuther, Frankfort; Anthony A. Dina, Mokena; Edward Schultz, Orland Park; Rudy Petan and Mrs. Janice Bell, vice president and secretary respectively of the Tinley Park Chamber of Commerce.

Other officials were John Condron, village trustee, Tinley Park; Herman E. Gee of the Orland State Bank; John Zimmerman, alderman, Country Club Hills; Glenn Tindall, Tinley Park, representing Glenwood Boys School; Clarence Bettenhausen, Mrs. Tony Bettenhausen, and Dr. Ryan.

A letter from Tinley Park Village President Allen Verhage was read in which he stated that he and the board of trustees are very much in favor of the hospital and would do their utmost in helping in whatever way they could in securing a hospital in this area.

Residents are also advised to take special care with fires as there will be a brief period of time when the water tower will be at a low level and the well pumps will furnish the only pressure available.

ENFORCE WEED LAW

In view of the deplorable appearance of a number of vacant lots in the Frankfort community the Village Board resolved unanimously to begin immediate enforcement of the weed-cutting ordinances. Empty lots overgrown with weeds are classed as a public nuisance and property-owners who do not keep them cut will be subjected to stiff fines if they fail to comply with the city ordinances.

The Frankfort American Legion was given permission to hold their annual Homecoming celebration in downtown Frankfort July 26 to 30 this year. Although plans are not yet complete it is expected that the celebration will include a carnival amusement stands, and possibly a parade.

After a brief discussion of auditing techniques and some required bookkeeping methods the village board authorized the treasurer to purchase whatever new ledgers are necessary.

July 10 at 10 a.m. bids on the new road repair and maintenance work, to be paid for with motor fuel tax funds, will be opened and examined.

In order to prevent problems later, the board decided to authorize some $300 worth of materials for the laying of 100 feet of drain tile to alleviate a bad drainage condition on Kansas St. near Mark's Grocery. Work will be done by the village street crew and they will also make a poured concrete catch-basin for the drainage improvement.

Damage to sewer tile near the surface at the corner of Rts. 30 and 45 was believed to have been done by a state highway crew's dragline, but no proof of this was available. The village will erect a warning sign in the area to prevent a recurrence of this damage.

TALK FUND-RAISING

The board closed their session with an hour discussion of a fund-raising scheme for the park which was presented for their approval. The salesman guaranteed the village a profit of from $2,000 to $3,000 and said the only requirement would be that his firm of pro-with other communities which have sponsored this promotion before making a decision on the matter.

A letter from the State Department of Public Works and Buildings explained to the Board that Frankfort's June 18 request for consideration to resurface White and Nebraska Streets (County Highway 7) cannot be considered this year. R. H. Golterman, District Engineer, agreed that the condition of the two streets is bad, but said that the current year's construction funds have already been completely allotted.

However, Golterman said the work will be considered for inclusion in the 1963 road construction program of the state, and in the interim the state will continue to maintain the street with the regular maintenance force.

MURDER SCENE - The body of a tiny baby girl was found in this area of McGinnis Slough near Orland Park at 12:10 a.m. June 27 by a Forest Preserve naturalist who was patrolling the area. The baby was wrapped in a yellow blanket bound with insulated wire and tied to a cement post 18" by 6". The dead infant was dressed in a white top piece with a diaper fastened by two pins. The tiny victim was taken to the Cook County morgue. The week-old child was apparently murdered although county police had no additional information to offer. (Golden Triangle Photo)

AWAKENED -- James L. Workman, 22, of 104 Iowa, Joliet apparently went to sleep driving and was awakened the hard way Thursday afternoon, June 26 when his car crashed. Workman is being prepared here for his trip to St. Joseph's Hospital. He had just passed over a small bridge 1 1/2 miles west of Frankfort on Rt. 30, hit the side of a house trailer and 125 ft. later the car came to a halt in the ditch. A fast-thinking passerby applied a tourniquet to a serious arm wound that probably saved his life. He is now recovering from the accident at home. Golden Triangle Photo

Reviewing Farm Programs

Current and proposed farm programs enjoy relatively small favor among the rank and file of farmers. That, in substance, is the finding of Dr. Karl D. Butler, a leading authority on the economics and the attitudes found in agriculture. As he puts it, "... about the only farm-oriented folks who are favorably disposed toward the New Frontier are certain grain elevator operators and absentee landlords. Farm owners and operators are scared to death of all the talk about controlling acreage, bushels and marketing quotas."

Dr. Butler is far from alone in his view. To cite some supporting evidence, Farm Journal, the leading national magazine in its field, recently conducted a poll concerning farm policy. More than 64,560 ballots were received, in which one of three choices was voted for. Choice one was for compulsory government quotas, with, among other things, support prices at or above present levels -- this received a tiny 4 per cent of the vote. Choice two was for an expanded voluntary land-retirement program without compulsory quotas or allotment -- 43 per cent of the magazine's responding readers voted for this. Choice three was to get the government clear out of the farm picture, with no controls and no price supports -- and this, surprising as it may seem to many people, gained a clear majority of the vote, with 53 per cent.

The June issue of Farm Journal carries an article by Claude W. Gifford, the magazine's economics editor, entitled "A Farm Plan That You Run". It is based upon a publication written by three Purdue University farm economists, in which 23 agricultural colleges were involved. Under this plan, 80 million of our 450 million acres of plowland would be retired and turned to other uses. Land could be rented to the government, but on a purely voluntary basis. There would still be support for the feed grains, but at prices which would not lead to new surpluses.

The cost of the program, it is estimated, would be not more than $1,500,000,000 a year to start with and would decline. Even the beginning figure is far less than that of present and past government programs. And the advantages, as Farm Journal lists them in a sub-head, would be impressive: "Gets the most production retired for the money. It helps people -- especially those who need it the most, yet it buys the most benefit for all farmers at the lowest cost. Allows you more freedom to decide how you'll farm. No one is forced into anything. Doesn't tie you to your past with quotas and historical bases on crops. Leaves and livestock and poultry business free -- helps free enterprise work. It is easier to administer. No quotas to police. You decide what the land is worth -- there'd be fewer injustices and complaints."

There are bound to be wide differences of opinion as to the details and the language of possible legislation. But it does seem to point the way toward doing something constructive about the staggering cost of the farm programs, the equally staggering problem of surpluses -- and, above all, agriculture's freedom. At the end, the Farm Journal article quotes one of the Purdue economists as saying, "Managerial freedom is what runs the efficient, high-producing 'engine' in our agriculture. Russia and Red China wish they had it. Ours isn't the result of just monetary incentive; it's the freedom incentive that's important. If we don't save that, all the land that we have in this country won't be enough for the future."

It's About Time

Taxpayers throughout the state began to scratch their head and smile in a puzzled manner this week when Governor Kerner announced that the Illinois Public Aid Commission will be required to review their estimates and reduce payments to recipients of public aid.

The puzzlement came primarily from the fact that it has taken the administration over a year to realize what the taxpayers have been trying to point out for far longer than that... that the state welfare rolls are padded ridiculously and the expense of nearly a million dollars a day is absolutely uncalled for.

We must congratulate our Governor for attacking this problem although we suspect that it would never have been done if there had been plenty of money available to spend.

In his statement the Governor found it necessary to say "All persons who desire work should be given that opportunity and those individuals who are not sincere in their efforts to remove themselves from the public aid rolls through employment, must be removed."

If the Public Aid Commission has not already been following this rule stringently... they should all be canned immediately, and some public employees with the interest of the taxpayer in mind should be put in their jobs.

Governor Kerner has attacked the biggest "pork barrel" in state history, now we'd like to see him begin to work on some of the smaller ones. He shall have the wholehearted support of every honest taxpayer, and every hard-working state official.

The Upper Room

READ REVELATION 22:1-7 He shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb, (Revelation 22:1.)

At the lower edge of a meadow on my father and mother's farm was a small swamp. At the lower edge of the swamp a little stream came out. It made its way down the valley over rocks and rills, through sunshine and fresh air, until it was purified. Joining other streams and creeks, it flowed into navigable rivers on its way to the ocean.

That little stream, along with many other little streams, has been doing its part to help bear up the commerce of the world and assuage the thirst of those who otherwise might have perished.

Christ's church is made up of many individuals who are being made more and more pure in the stream of a strong faith and an active life in Christ. Each, joined to others, does his part to help lift the burdens of the world and to bring other persons into the sunshine of God's love, to the fountain of life, that they too may be made pure.

PRAYER: Our Father in heaven, thanksgiving and praise be unto Thee for Thy love and tender mercies. Grant us Thy rich blessings that we may become pure and holy and may always be active in Thy work and service as we journey homeward. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY As we become more active church members, we become more useful to Christ.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Military experts seem agreed that regardless of missiles and nuclear weapons there will still be a job for the infantry.

And while helicopters and planes continue to play an increasing part in transporting people and material, the automakers haven't had the urge yet to push the panic button.

Flying saucers, even flying carpets, may come in vogue but a person still has to get places after he lands and so the auto tycoons are looking forward to many good years.

They readily admit that boats are better than cars when traveling on water and there is still terrain where the camel, the mule or the horse provide a better means of avoiding walking than the automobile but by and large they are convinced the automobile is here to stay.

In this day of space travel the automobile has taken on the role of ground troops and it might be well if the makers accepted the fact. As it is they appear to be imbued with the idea of attempting to match the speed of airborne craft.

Only recently, according to news dispatches, some of the auto makers have decided to put more emphasis on speed and horsepower than on safety.

There is no doubt that automobiles today are more comfortable and on the whole give the owner less trouble than they did a few decades ago. Tires and gasoline have been improved to a point where they give more mileage.

We wish, too, that the people who make cars would put some more steel in the bodies. They keep rolling the sheet from which bodies and fenders are made thinner and thinner. The day may not be too far off when the auto makers can dispose of the odds and ends of sheet to wrap potatoes in to bake them on a cook-out.

It looks like these light, thin bodies are something we are going to have to take and if we don't like it we can do the next best thing.

The golf balls that give you that extra distance have a thin cover that cuts easily. And because they are used by the pros and the scratch players it is only natural that the club, the hacker, wants to use them too. If he can't make the shots he can console himself with the thought that at least he uses the same kind of a ball that Arnold, Nicklaus or Snead does. So he buys the best and wrecks it and does the same thing with a car.

There was a time when it seemed as if the carmakers would rival the planemakers in providing instruments and gauges to confuse the driver but not anymore.

The only thing left to read on an instrument panel anymore is the speedometer and the gasoline gauge. The gauges for the oil pressure, for the temperature and the one that told how the generator was doing have been replaced with lights.

Your correspondent hasn't figured these out yet. Sometimes they all start flashing at the same time like a pinball machine but with the word "BRIGHT" coming up instead of "TILT."

Whether one gets double points when "HOT" and "COLD" pop up at the same time depends upon the house rules.

The Goodwill truck is due in town Thursday, July 12. Place your calls to Frankfort 5425 by car they called a "saloon."

Maybe they still do and it wouldn't be far off if such a name were given to some of our own modern models.

With the display of lights at the rear of some cars -- with some of the lights curved yet -- and the pinball effect on the interior one could easily take such a car to be a mobile barroom.

We do have a suggestion for the auto manufacturers. Since most cars look alike today and carry model names why not put the name of the company in lights on the roof so it could be read coming or going.

One has to look sharp now to find the name of the car. And how is one to tell one from another without a scorecard. No wonder the young fry who formerly could tell you the name and year of each passing car have taken up the identification of aircraft.

Has anyone seen a Brush buckboard lately?

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The stock market is still in a general declining phase, but there are some issues which are resisting downward pressures.

Bear markets usually carry too far on the downside and bull markets act about the same on the upside. No one can say, for certain, that the decline will not carry further. However, the usually accepted leaders among the older analysts, are now expressing the belief that the worst of the decline is over and that a rally from this point can be anticipated. Such a rally could be substantial with any declines from this point, comparatively mild.

The varied and sometimes opposing business activity views expressed by Administration officials in reference to the stock market and business conditions, has had the financial community somewhat perplexed.

It is now reported that all public statements by officials must be cleared by superior authority, before use. This restriction is deemed necessary as minor officials in key agencies can issue statements which may or may not be well-founded. Sometimes government officials assume greater knowledge than their training would indicate. The financial community has been surprised at some statements.

With an election only a few months ahead, it is not surprising that the officialdom would seek some easy phrase or explanation with which to fend off any effort to place blame in their direction. This effort is only normal to political self-preservation.

The theme of this protective effort seems to be, "it had to be realized sometime that inflation is no longer a way of life and prices were too high". As a matter of history, there has been a continual erosion of the value of all monetary units since their invention as a bookkeeping convenience. This erosion has been small and sometimes halted for comparatively short periods only to start again without much warning as such action is caused by pressures on various commodities. Only in periods of what we call depressions, does this erosion reverse itself and increase rather than decrease purchasing power. This is always a short-lived period.

Analysts without pressures of official office, seem to be rather well agreed that our trouble was increasing volume of business with decreasing percentage of profit due to higher labor costs as well as higher taxes and official pressures to hold the price line against inflation.

Those firms in industries generally classed as cyclical, must earn enough when business is good, to keep their employees working and happy in bad as well as good periods, and show net profits that attract the investor to the firm when it is in need of funds for expansion, etc.

It is alleged that some of the government planners did not realize the difficulty of showing net profits in industry.

Becoming pessimistic is as easy as becoming too optimistic. There has been a substantial correction in any overvaluation with dividend income now very much improved.

Due to flow of funds into banks and other savings, institutions, mortgage funds are in ample supply and there is competition for loans. Analysts anticipate lower lending rates.

Stocks in consumer fields as food, cosmetics etc. seem to be attracting attention.

School To Hold Festival

Parents, friends and neighbors throughout Chicagoland are making elaborate plans for the 12th annual summer festival of the Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. School for Exceptional Children to be held on Sunday, July 28, on the school grounds at 123rd and Wolf road, Palos Park.

Chief source of financial assistance for the Franciscan Sisters in their continued training and education of exceptional children, the festival is annually conducted by the children's parents and friends of the school.

The school was established in 1949 by the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis of Assisi and cares for 180 mentally retarded boys.

The Sisters are pioneers, not only in the work of the mentally retarded but in the field of teacher training in special education as well. Sister Mary Inex is business manager of the school.

SHOULD I INCORPORATE?

Each year thousands of new businesses are started and in each case the owner must choose the form under which he will conduct his business venture. The three basic forms are the sole proprietorship, the partnership and the corporation. The choice of a particular form should be made carefully and with competent advice.

The sole proprietorship is, of course, the simplest business form. No organizational formalities are required. The proprietor may delegate authority to employees in which case they may bind him to certain agreements; but otherwise he is in complete control. The entire net income of the business must be reported by the owner on his personal income tax return while all losses are borne by the proprietor, and creditors of the business may even resort to his personal assets to satisfy their claims.

When the business is sold or the owner dies, that particular proprietorship ends even though the business may be carried on by someone else.

Moving on to the partnership, we find a somewhat more complex form of business organization which requires some agreement, however simple, setting forth the relationship of the parties. Here, the control and management will be shared equally by the partners unless a different division is provided for in the partnership agreement.

Normally, no person may become a member of a partnership without the consent of all the partners and consequently each partner can prevent control from passing to outsiders. Each partner is liable for the acts of his partners and partnership employees acting in the ordinary course of partnership business and each partner is personally liable for all of the debts and obligations of the partnership. These harsh rules of liability make the selection of a partner a matter of extreme importance.

There is no federal income tax on the partnership itself, but each partner must include his proportionate share of the earnings on his personal return. A partnership is dissolved and there must be an accounting between the partners upon the death or withdrawal of a partner; however, the partnership agreement may provide that the remaining partners can continue the business.

The third main form of business is the corporation. This is the most complex form and requires strict adherence to the statutory requirements for organization and operation.

If the corporation does business in states other than the state of incorporation it must qualify in each of those states and pay various franchise taxes in each of those states. The management of a corporation is usually vested in a board of directors which is elected by the shareholders. The board of directors in turn elects officers to carry out the policies established by the board.

In a small or a "close" corporation the same people may be the stockholders, directors and officers but in a large corporation, there may be thousands of stockholders in which case control of the corporation by any person or group may be difficult to maintain.

Probably, the greatest advantage of the corporate form is the limited liability which it affords. If the corporation is properly organized, its stockholders will not be personally liable for corporate debts and obligations.

Usually, a corporation pays a federal income tax on its earnings, then each stockholder is required to pay tax on these same earnings when they are distributed to him as dividends. A recent change in the statute, however, permits some corporations to elect to be taxed as partnerships.

Theoretically a corporation is considered to be a separate entity so that death of a stockholder or a transfer of his stock has no effect on the existence of the corporation but in a small corporation there may be the practical problem of finding a buyer for the shares.

Hints For Homeowners

By: JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER

For several years there has been wholesale removal of our shade trees because of the elm disease. It is only through such loss that we can fully appreciate the value of the trees in providing beauty and shade, and also their ability to freshen the atmosphere, reduce dust and smoke problems and absorb sound and noise.

Now that we have to replace these trees, we should consider what kinds to use as replacements so that they won't get too large for their location or become unsightly and bothersome. In selecting a tree, to plant along your street or in your yard, consider the following factors:

1. Be sure your choice is hardy for your area.

2. Avoid trees that have unattractive litter, such as messy fruit or seed pods.

3. Don't select trees with roots that are heavy surface feeders. They interfere with the growth of lawns and will cause pavement to heave.

4. Don't plant rapid growing trees, such as black locust or Siberian elm (commonly called the Chinese elm). Although these trees will give shade quickly, they are short-lived (10 to 15 year average life span), and they break in ice, snow and wind.

5. Choose a tree that has good growth habits. When full grown, it fits into the overhead space that is available. (Don't plant big trees under telephone lines).

6. Limit your selections to varieties that are long-lived and resistant to ice and wind damage as well as to insects and diseases.

Selecting trees to fit your street: - Trees lining a street and providing delicate canopy of foliage overhead relieve the monotonous lines of houses and gives a feeling of character to the street and the community. Selecting a street tree is a responsibility that should not be lightly assumed.

By selecting the right tree you can minimize maintenance costs. You can virtually eliminate damage to curbs, sidewalks and sewers, blocking of street lights, and interference with overhead wires.

Louise Berg Weds Charles Lauffer In Marley Church

Before an altar banked with twin bouquets of mixed white flowers, Miss Louise Claire Berg recited matrimonial promises with Charles Lester Lauffer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Berg of Marley and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Lauffer also of Marley.

The double ring wedding ceremony was performed at 5:30 p.m., June 16, by the Rev. Ian Brown in the Marley Baptist Community Church. Appropriate wedding selections were played on the organ by Miss Betty Anderson, who also accompanied Mrs. Robert Lindberg as she sang, "Wedding Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta with Swiss embroidery trimming the front panel of the skirt. The bodice was fashioned with a square neckline and elbow length sleeves. The far-reaching train, sweeping to a chapel length, fell from a bustle arrangement of a large bow and a self material rose.

A crown of aurora borealis and lilies of the valley held her silk illusion veil in place. She wore white kid gloves and carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Alma Lauffer, sister of the groom, acted as maid of honor. She wore a street-length jacket ensemble of white pique fashioned with a draped bodice of pink silk organza. She carried three long-stemmed pink carnations.

Miss Jean Lauffer, also a sister of the groom, wore an identical attire to that of the maid of honor.

Pat Boland of Lockport attended the bridegroom as best man and the ushers were Leo Scheban of Oak Lawn and Robert Stellwagen.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Silver Lake Country Club, Orland Park, where a buffet dinner was served to 240 guests.

Bouquets of white mums and gladiolus decorated the altar of the church. Mrs. Wayne Carmeichel sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" who was accompanied at the organ by Miss Pat Torok.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor sweeping gown of white silk-ened taffeta. Chantilly lace fashioned the bodice and edged the overskirt which ended in a chapel length train.

Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a crown of aurora borealis and she carried a white bible with white carnations and pink roses. The bride wore a sterling silver cross, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. John Stankeus, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore an orchid nylon frock featuring an embroidered apron effect overskirt. She wore a matching hat and shoes, and carried a matching basket with white carnations.

Reception was held at the Will County Atrium for approximately 450 people.

The wedding trip consisted of a trip through Michigan after which they are making their home in Frankfort.

Wedding Reception Held At Frank Carroll Home June 30

By ELIZABETH ANDERSON
The Shady Oaks Camp for cerebral palsy patients, on Parker Rd., held Open House Sunday afternoon, July 1. They are in need of another nurse to relieve their regular help one day each week.

Tom Townsend had his car sideswiped by a hit-run driver last Saturday evening. Both he and his passenger, Wm. Weber of Bruce Rd., received head cuts, but declined being taken to a physician.

Mrs. Donald Aspel, E. Seventh St., is recuperating from eye surgery which she underwent at Silver Cross Hospital last Thursday morning. Her two small sons are with an aunt at Wyandot.

John T. Adelman of 147th St. was inducted into the Army last week and will be stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., for basic training.

Robert D. Cagwin of Oak Ave. has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Training Depot, Paris Island, S.C.

George Burcham, Jr., who has been at Ft. Sill, Okla., since his furlough a few weeks ago, expects to be sent overseas soon.

Mrs. Verna Habenicht accompanied the L.T.H.S. Band on their eastern tour last week. Mrs. Edna Mergler stayed in the Habenicht home, helping to care for Mrs. Clara Reed who is quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gaines of Lockport are the parents of a son born June 27 at Silver Cross Hospital. The baby's mother is the former Norma Loucks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks of E. Seventh St., Homer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bethell and son Alfred, have moved to a new home at 418 Mohawk St.,

Joliet. Mr. Bethell is employed with the Ruan Oil Co. He recently resigned as treasurer of Homer Church because of inconvenient working hours, and Mrs. Lois Swanson has consented to fill out his year as church treasurer.

Miss Joan Stauss of E. Seventh St., recently received her B. S. degree in Education at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. She has accepted a teaching position in Los Angeles, Calif., for next year.

The Amos Conrad family spent the weekend in the George Burcham home. Sunday afternoon the two families attended the Powers-Harris family reunion at Dellwood Park.

John W. White, E. Seventh St., has returned from Idaho where he spent several weeks on a business trip.

Two burglaries were reported last Tuesday by families living in the 143rd St. area. A child's bank containing $25 in cash was taken from the Chas. Wiersma home on 143rd between noon and 6 p.m. At the home of Mrs. Michalich on Hillcrest near 143rd, about 40 pennies were stolen and the house ransacked. It is believed the marauders were youngsters as they entered thru small apertures and left other things more valuable than those taken.

Mrs. Charles Jensen was hostess at the meeting of the Missionary Society Thursday. Mrs. Burcham presided and Mrs. Cox led a helpful devotional program. The society voted to pay for a curtain rod for the basement stage and to purchase a used electric roaster from Mrs. Parker. They also discussed a potato masher for large quantities and the need for more chairs before the fall supper. The supper bazaar date is tentatively set for Oct. 12. Several men worked with a bulldozer at Homer church Wednesday, leveling the grounds in readiness for gravel to make a larger parking space. A Bible study hour was held at the church Thursday evening with Donald Culp directing the lesson. The group expects to meet once a month.

Rev. Cox's sermon topic for July 8 will be "Not Until You Try." Last Sunday his topic was "Yardstick." Both are part of a series from the book of Acts on the Early Christian Church.

The attractive lawn at the Frank Carroll home, Cedar and E. Division St., was the scene of a wedding-reception Saturday, July 30, following the 11 o'clock ceremony at St. John's Vianney Church in Fairmont, when Miss Carol Morrow, daughter of the E. L. Morrrows of Oak Ave., Fairmont, became the bride of Kenneth Carroll. Nearly 50 girls from Reed School district have been attending the Girl Scout Day Camp at Rocky Glen Park near Le-mont during its six-day term. Among the leaders were Mrs. Thomas Zander, Mrs. Wm. Champoux, Mrs. Kenneth Tooney, Mrs. Donald Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Carr and Mrs. George Burcham acted as Nursery Mother for pre-school children, at her home, for mothers who were helping at the Camp.

The girls went on hikes, cooked their lunch out-of-doors, and had instruction classes in First aid, Scout craft, wood-manners, and achievements.

4-H'ers Hold Public Speaking Contest

The annual Will County 4-H Public Speaking contest was held Wednesday, June 27, at Laraway Grade School, Joliet. Twenty-five contestants took part in the event.

Winner of the 4-H girls' division was Miss Shiela Sturm, Elwood. Shiela's speech topic was how 4-H helps girls. Chosen as alternate was Miss Ruth Ann Rainford, Frankfort, Ruth Ann's speech topic was safety.

Richard Urbon, Monee, was selected winner of the 4-H boys' division. Brainwashing was young Urbon's speech topic. Thomas Zander, Jr., Lockport, was chosen as alternate, and safety was his speech topic.

Father Berthol Fahey, Joliet Catholic High School speech department head, was judge. The 4-H'ers selected by Father Berthol will represent Will County at the State 4-H Public Speaking contest at the Illinois State Fair.

The members taking part belonged to the Wesley 4-H Hustlers, Wilmington Little Women, Green Garden Snip 'N Snack, Monee Clod Busters, Plainfield Guided Misses, Willing Wilton Workers, and Jollyettes 4-H Club. Other 4-H clubs represented were Jackson Live-wires, Manhattan Chat 'N Chu,

Postpone Hearing To Aug. 6 For Westhaven Policemen

Monday afternoon, the parties involved in the case where two Westhaven police officers have been charged with aggravated assault by Jack Ludes of Orland Township, met informally in the jury room of Justice of the Peace Albert Wheeler's court.

Don Moore, attorney for the Westhaven policemen, said that it was agreed there to hold a meeting between the lawyers involved and the parties to the case, to try and settle it without the necessity of a trial. Judge Wheeler advised all parties involved that the case will be held over until 3 p.m. Aug. 6 and, at that time the case will be disposed of as far as his court is concerned.
